

Listening quietly when a friend is telling a story.

Saying please and thank you.

Cleaning up after yourself.

Playing fair and following the rules of the game.

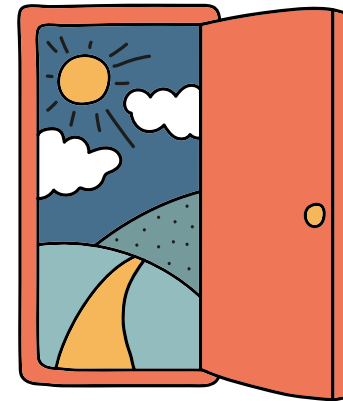

Giving a high-five and saying "Great job" when someone wins a game.

Waiting for your turn to talk.

Sitting in your area and not touching anyone.

Opening the door for someone.

Arguing with a leader or a parent.

Telling lies.

Pushing or shoving when you don't get your way.

Screaming "No" when a parent asks you to clean up.

When someone else gets picked for a game, shouting "No fair!"

Acting silly during group time and distracting other kids.

Running inside in a crowded area.

You don't like your friend's new shoes, and say, "Your shoes are ugly!"
